

Security Screens

Many projects require protection from strong winds and flying debris as well as resistance to vandalism and break-ins. Some areas even require hurricane resistance. Single hung, double hung and horizontal rolling windows by Thermal Windows, Inc. are now available with security screens. The windows meet AAMA performance ratings ranging from C-40 through AW-75. When combined with security screens our products can meet the most demanding specifications.

These strong and attractive screens provide continuous security with a high degree of light transmittance. This provides natural light to the interior and a pleasing appearance from the exterior. The view from inside the building is unobstructed.

Thermal Windows with Security Screens are the perfect combination for security, aesthetics and code compliance.
